

INDIAN NAVY SCHOOLS

Balwadi : School for Children of Domestic Help

NWWA promotes the social cause of basic education for all. Children of domestic help in all the regions are provided with free education and their all round development is ensured. All major festivals and national days are celebrated to give the children a “peak” into the rich cultural heritage of India.

Little Angels School : For Our ‘Tiny Tot’ Angels

In these preschools, NWWA strives to inculcate traditional Indian values as well as to develop the latent talents and skills of our young toddlers. Teaching methodology and play equipment is updated regularly in keeping with changing times and needs.

Jagriti : Enlightenment Through Knowledge

This is the “Awakening Group” of NWWA which conducts various activities and competitions at the Navy Children Schools. In addition, this group also provides scholarship incentives to gifted children and young achievers. If you want to give someone a gift, try giving them your time and attention.

Sahara : Widow Rehabilitation

Life in the defence forces is not easy and often unpredictable. This arm of NWWA takes an active interest in providing emotional and financial security, moral support and also serves as a forum that provides job opportunities to naval wives who have lost their spouses in the service of the nation. NWWA regularly conducts contact programmes with these ladies regarding scholarships and education of their children, pension schemes, medical aid etc. so that they can be drawn out of their shell and are able to bear their incalculable loss. They are also provided special vocational training to inculcate a feeling of self sufficiency and confidence.

Sankalp : School for Differently Abled Children

Believing in the motto of “TOGETHER WE CAN” this group endeavors to create a loving and caring atmosphere for special children of the naval community. They are trained in both academics and vocational subjects and are encouraged to interact with children of regular schools. They are taught to make greeting cards, incense sticks, paper bags and envelopes, and are also trained in woodwork etc. Their products are then sold at all NWWA shops. Teachers, helpers and children celebrate all the festivals together to understand the importance of Indian culture. Regular workshops and counseling sessions are held for the parents for acceptance and improvement of these children so that they can become responsible citizens.
